EIGHTH SEASON
1976-77

KANATA THEATRE

1976–77 Season

THE CHALK GARDEN by Enid Bagnold — a mystery, a drama, a comedy — always a delicate and engrossing story, directed by Laurence Thornton.

27 to 30 October 1976

LLOYD GEORGE KNEW MY FATHER by William Douglas-Home — a brisk and outrageous modern comedy, rich in character and plot — a recent London hit, directed by Maurice Dubras.

12 to 15 January 1977

ANGEL STREET by Patrick Hamilton — possibly the most famous of all modern Victorian thrillers — also known as "Gaslight" directed by Dewi and Eufron Williams.

23 to 26 March 1977

YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU the great American comedy classic by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman — the misadventures of a gloriously mad group of contented eccentrics, directed by Jim Holmes.

18 to 21 May 1977

KANATA THEATRE

Season Tickets may be exchanged at any time before the day of performance. Since they are sold at a discount there will be no cash refund.

The best available seats will be assigned to each order as soon as it is received. Specific requests will be considered if possible. If you order early you will increase your chances of getting a good seat.

Individual tickets will be available about two weeks before each play at regular prices of $3 for the A seats and $2 for the B seats. (Students and Senior Citizens: A seats — $1.50, and B seats — $1.00.)

KANATA THEATRE has found it necessary to increase some of its prices for this season because of increased costs, the chief of these being the rental of the auditorium which we previously used rent-free.
